

Portlight Strategies and

...offers a unique way for you to help under served, un-served, and forgotten people effected by natural disasters

Since 1997, we have provided medical equipment (such as wheelchairs, walkers, and crutches), post disaster relief supplies and support...as well as minor home repairs and ramp construction...

all free of charge to people in need...this equipment and these services – which all too often are not covered by private insurance, government assistance programs, or traditional organizations – can open the door to new, independent lives for people critically in need of a little help...most of the equipment and supplies we distribute is donated by institutions and families...when necessary, we arrange for used items to be refurbished...and we never charge recipients...

We also host conferences, workshops, and support group meetings designed to foster a sense of community – a common bond and purpose essential to the well being of people with disabilities (and our friends and families) to meet one another and create relationships and opportunities which are often life-changing...

A specific focus of our efforts is facilitating personal and professional mentoring relationships which lead to economic and personal empowerment... We are especially interested in working with returning injured military veterans...

Our modest budget is raised exclusively from individuals and small businesses... your support enables us to operate apart from any sort of government or foundation funding...
